DRB Decision: Return for Redesign.

1. Consider design changes to the gymnasium, which would allow the building to stand on its own and provide an architectural focal point for the campus.
2. Introduce natural light into the design of the building.
3. If the design remains in its current configuration, the height of the building shall be a maximum of 32 feet. However, if the design is revised, the height of the building can go to 35 feet.
4. Consider installing the mechanical equipment within the storage/restroom wings of the building.
5. Review the site planning of the building. Consider moving the building 5 to 10 feet toward the rear of the property.
6. Relocate the bleachers to the opposite side of the court to enable an entry from the classroom side.
7. Propose landscaping complementary to the buildings and the surroundings. The number of trees in the landscape design shall be consistent with the staff report.
8. Propose another tree type other than the ash tree in the southern landscape area due to an invasive root system.
