A Message From Yasmin Beers

Glendale City Manager

2018 is over – and as we enter the New Year, it is customary to set goals for ourselves. 2019 affords all of us the opportunity to focus on what we can do to better ourselves and our community. When you think of the notorious New Year's resolution, it's easy to go straight to goals like getting into shape, experiencing more culture, or spending time with family. Although these are great goals to have, they can be expanded to accomplish an additional goal - getting more involved in Glendale.

The City holds a whole host of programs, events, and workshops throughout the year that will help you reach your goals, so keep an eye out through our various platforms to stay informed!

Get a Free 2019 Calendar and Meet Glen and Dale!

The City invites you to celebrate the life and work of Cesar Chavez at our 18th annual celebration on March 30th. This event features live performances, the Glendale Rocks! climbing wall, crafts for children, free food, and more.

In April, the City of Glendale's annual commemoration of the Armenian Genocide will honor the lives of 1.5 million men, women, and children who suffered and perished 104 years ago, and serve as a reminder to all of us that such atrocities can be prevented if we work together to understand cultural differences and find acceptance.

Plan to get into shape? Conquer the mountains at this year's Verdugo Mountains 10k on Sunday, May 5th. Produced by the City of Glendale's Community Services & Parks Department to benefit the Glendale Parks & Open Space Foundation, the course begins in beautiful Brand Park, climbs steadily to one of the highest points in the Verdugo Mountains, and then heads back downhill for a fast descent to the finish.

When it comes to reaching your goals, think about your progress and don't worry if it's taking longer than you thought. And remember, you might accomplish things along the way that weren't a part of your initial list of goals. Did you learn new things? Did you get closer to the big picture? Every step you take counts.

That being said, I will end this message by expressing what a pleasure it is to serve as City Manager in a community that gives so much. I look forward to 2019, and encourage all of our community members to stay involved. May you and your family have a happy, safe, and prosperous New Year!
