

Welcome to the Stone Barn Nature Center at Deukmejian Wilderness Park. This is a 12-acre developed park, which includes picnic shelters, rental areas, over 5.5 miles of hiking trails connecting to the Angeles National Forest trails, and the new Stone Barn Nature Center.

The Community Services & Parks Department welcomes you to enjoy the Stone Barn Nature Center. Share with us in learning the history of the barn, the nature around us, and enjoy exploring our beautiful backyard!

Please be a good steward of our parks. Do NOT feed the wildlife, pack out what you pack in, and recycle what you can!

STONE BARN NATURE CENTER

The Stone Barn was originally built between 1905-1915, by the Le Mesnager family. Throughout the years, it has served as a winery, stables, residence, and now a nature center. It burned down in the 1933 wildfire, but was rebuilt to the structure you see today.

Visit the nature center to learn about the history of the land by the Dunsmoor family, the winery that Georges Le Mesnager and his family ran, and the acquisition of the park by the City of Glendale.

From wildfires to wildlife, our backyard is full of exciting and amazing things. Join us to learn about tectonic movement that has created our mountains, the plants and bugs native to the hillsides, and the amazing creatures that roam in our own backyard.
